Pitney Bowes Completes Acquisition of Danka Services International
Pitney Bowes Becomes Leading Document Services Provider to the Fortune 100

STAMFORD, Conn., U.S.A. June 29, 2001 -- Pitney Bowes Inc. (NYSE: PBI) has completed its acquisition of Danka Services International ("DSI") from Danka Business Systems PLC (Nasdaq: DANKY) for $290 million in cash. With the acquisition, Pitney Bowes' Management Services division gains critical mass, additional expertise and enhances its international market share to become a worldwide leader in the $30 billion Integrated Mail and Document Management Industry.

The acquisition adds new capabilities to Pitney Bowes Management Services' strong arsenal of product and service offerings including its on- and off- site document management services, management of central reprographics departments, the management of photocopier and facsimile network placements, print-on-demand operations and document archiving and retrieval services. Together, the combined companies now have a presence at over 1,300 customer sites and employ over 16,000 people in Europe and North America including the U.S., Canada, the U.K., Ireland, France, Italy, Denmark, Sweden, Germany, Norway, the Netherlands and Belgium.

"Historically, the two companies have shared similar market approaches in the way we deliver value for customers. Through our Integrated Mail and Document Management (IMDM) solutions, we leverage the savings and efficiency produced throughout the entire document lifecycle including incoming mail, document creation and production, distribution, archiving and retrieval," stated Karen M. Garrison, president, Pitney Bowes Management Services. "This shared market view and customer commitment will allow for a seamless transition for the current clients of both organizations."

With a customer portfolio that includes, Cisco, General Motors, ExxonMobil and Merrill Lynch, Pitney Bowes Management Services becomes the market leader among the Fortune 100 in providing integrated mail and document management solutions. Combined, Pitney Bowes Management Services and DSI will produce nearly $1 billion in annualized revenue, and account for nearly 22 percent of Pitney Bowes' annual revenue.

Following the acquisition, DSI operations will become part of Pitney Bowes Management Services and operate under the Pitney Bowes Management Services name. In addition, Pitney Bowes Management Services is realigning its internal operations reporting structure to better meet the needs of the expanded organization both domestically and internationally. Ray Parker becomes president, International Operations (based in the U.K.); Randy Miller becomes president, Enterprise Operations Group; and Kevin Connolly, becomes president, North American Operations, all reporting to Garrison.

For Pitney Bowes, the acquisition is focused on providing growth and increased value and services to customers and shareholders.

About Pitney Bowes Management Services:
