PITNEY BOWES TAKES STEPS TO SPIN OFF
CAPITAL SERVICES BUSINESS

"The Company Pursues the Option of a Sponsored Spin-off"

Stamford, Conn., December 16, 2004 - The Board of Directors of Pitney Bowes Inc. (NYSE: PBI) today approved a plan to pursue a sponsored spin-off of its Capital Services external financing business. The new entity would be an independent publicly-traded company consisting of most of the assets in its Capital Services segment, including assets related to Imagistics International, Inc. The company has entered into negotiations with a party interested in investing in the new entity. The decision to move forward with the spin-off will be contingent upon reaching agreement on terms with an investor, prevailing market conditions at the time of the proposed spin-off, regulatory review and the receipt of a favorable ruling from the Internal Revenue Service that the spin-off would be tax free.

Michael J. Critelli, Chairman and CEO of Pitney Bowes Inc. said, "In January, 2003 we announced our decision to stop active origination of long-term external financing transactions and to liquidate our $2 billion-plus portfolio over time. Our objective was to reduce the risks associated with complex, long-term financing transactions, enhance our financial flexibility and sharpen our focus on our core businesses.

In looking at our options for maximizing the value of both Pitney Bowes and Capital Services, we decided that both entities had the potential to benefit from a sponsored spin-off under the right conditions."

Pitney Bowes Capital Services, headquartered in Shelton, Conn., provides a range of custom-tailored external commercial financing solutions for companies of all sizes. With a 25-year heritage and assets exceeding $2 billion, Capital Services has offered an array of quality financing, leasing and advisory services in three areas: Capital Equipment; Vendor Financing; and Commercial Real Estate through its PREFCO business unit. Capital Services' success is predicated on its ability to build profitable, long-term relationships with both customers and business partners.

Critelli concluded, "As separate entities, Pitney Bowes and Capital Services could leverage our respective core strengths, sharpen the focus on the growth opportunities in our designated markets, and maximize speed and responsiveness to changing customer and competitive conditions."

Pitney Bowes is the world's leading provider of integrated mail and document management systems, services and solutions. The $4.6 billion company helps organizations of all sizes efficiently and effectively manage their mission-critical mail and document flow in physical, digital and hybrid formats. Its solutions range from addressing software and metering systems to print stream management, electronic bill presentment and presort mail services. The company's 80-plus years of technological leadership has produced many major innovations in the mailing industry and more than 3,500 active patents with applications in a variety of markets, including printing, shipping, encryption, and financial services. With approximately 33,000 employees worldwide, Pitney Bowes serves more than 2 million businesses through direct and dealer operations.
